9. If admitted to the School of Law, those planning to enroll will be required to submit two separate seat deposits of $250.00 each. Although these seat deposits are non-refundable, they are applied toward tuition charges upon matriculation. Admitted applicants will also be required to furnish — at the time of matriculation — an official transcript showing the awarding of the baccalaureate degree.

Applicants with foreign credentials should also ignore the instructions above for submitting letters of recommendation. Please have the two required letters submitted directly by the recommender (on letterhead preferred) to the Chapman University School of Law, Office of Admissions.
Please do not include these letters with your application. International and foreign applicants may be required to furnish official results of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). Contact the Office of Admissions for advice on this possible requirement.

8. SPECIAL NEEDS: Applicants are not required to notify the School of Law of a disability or a need for accommodation prior to admission.
Any information concerning an applicant's disability provided during the admissions process is voluntary and optional and is maintained as confidential information in the School of Law. No limitations are placed on the number of persons with disabilities who may be admitted or enrolled. Applicants with disabilities may wish to contact Law Services to inquire about the possibility of receiving testing accommodations for the LSAT.

7. Personal Statement: Please include a brief (2-3 type-written pages, double-spaced) personal statement indicating fully your reasons for wanting to study law, why you chose to apply to Chapman University School of Law, and stating any further information which you feel should be considered by the Admissions Committee. If applying electronically, use a Written Statement template for your statement.

6. LETTERS OF RECOMMENDATION: Chapman University School of Law requires the submission of two letters of recommendation. Positive and meaningful recommendations concerning the applicant's analytical skills and communication and writing abilities can be helpful to the committee in the decision-making process. Typically, professors, academic administrators and advisors, and employers are best able to address these qualities and characteristics in an applicant.

The School of Law also requires that your letters be submitted through the LSACD letter of recommendation service that serves all member schools. Note: those with foreign credentials should read further for exception on letters of recommendation. Service is included in your LSACD Registration subscription. Your letters will be copied and sent to us along with your LSACD Report. To use this service, follow the instructions for submitting letters outlined in the 2001-2002 LSAT/LSDAS Registration and Information Book, page 21. Be sure to fill out and give each letter writer a letter of recommendation form from the LSAT/LSDAS Registration and Information Book, page I-9, on the LSAC web site at www.LSAC.org, or on the LSACD.

5. PERSONAL STATEMENT: Please include a brief (2-3 type-written pages, double-spaced) personal statement indicating fully your reasons for wanting to study law, why you chose to apply to Chapman University School of Law, and stating any further information which you feel should be considered by the Admissions Committee. If applying electronically, use a Written Statement template for your statement.

Chapman University School of Law seeks to attract a diverse student body in order to enrich its educational environment. An applicant will be regarded as potentially contributing to student diversity if he or she possesses characteristics that would not ordinarily be well represented in the School of Law student body. Personal characteristics which may be considered for diversity purposes include: special educational experience; extracurricular achievement (including community service); work experience; geographic background; race or ethnicity; sexual orientation; economic or educational disadvantage; age; success in overcoming adversity; and career goals. If you believe that you could contribute to the School of Law's student diversity and that this ability warrants special consideration by the Admissions Committee, please explain in detail in your Personal Statement your reasons for this belief. Providing such information is voluntary.

4. Applicants must furnish the results of the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) and must register with the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS). Note: those with foreign credentials should read further for exception on LSDAS. Only LSAT results from February 1998 through June 2002 will be considered for 2002 first-year student admission. Please arrange to have all transcripts mailed directly to Law Services by the institution(s) you attended.

3. We accept applications that have been prepared using the Law School Admission Council's LSACD or LSACD on the Web. Both of these products allow you to use your computer to efficiently fill out applications for all ABA-approved law schools. You can print out your completed application form from our catalog or at our Web site. Do not submit your application form to Chapman University School of Law at the address indicated above, or you can enter your LSACD on the Web or electronically transmit your law school application to LSAC. LSAC will then send both printed and electronic versions of your application to Chapman Law.

Applications submitted to LSAC for transmission to Chapman Law will be considered postmarked on the day they are electronically submitted.
Subscriptions to the LSACD on the Web are available at www.LSAC.org.

2. Return the application form (from our catalog or at our Web site) with your Personal Statement, a résumé, and the required non-refundable application fee of $50.00 to:

Chapman University School of Law
One University Drive • Orange, CA 92866 or send your application and personal statement electronically via LSAC, and mail your fee with your Certification Letter.
