Come hear how four writers came to do what they do. The writers offer advice about developing a career as a writer, words that are often, in turns, encouraging, philosophical, and sensible.

Refreshments will be served. For more information: 714-532-6027 | mellswo@chapman.edu

Ryan Gattis
Writer & educator
Author of All Involved: A Novel of the 1992 L.A. Riots

Janna Levin
Professor of physics and astronomy
Author of A Madman Dreams of Turing Machines

Pico Iyer
Longtime essayist for Time magazine
Author of The Art of Stillness

Gordon McAlpine
Past chair of Chapman University MFA
Author of Woman With a Blue Pencil
Ryan Gattis is a writer & educator. His most recent book, All Involved: A Novel of the 1992 L.A. Riots, is grounded in 2.5 years of research & background spent with former Latino gang members, firefighters, nurses, & other L.A. citizens who lived through it. The novel has won the American Library Association's Alex Award & the Lire Award for Noir of the Year in France. Set to be translated into 11 languages, it has been called “a high-octane speedball of a read” by The New York Times & its film rights have been acquired by HBO. Gattis lives and writes in Los Angeles, where he is a member of the street art crew UGLARworks & a founding board member of 1888, a Southern California literary arts non-profit.

Pico Iyer is a longtime essayist for Time magazine, a frequent contributor to the New York Times and author of 10 books. As a Chapman University Presidential Fellow, he visits campus annually to discuss his work and travels. In his most recent visit to campus, Mr. Iyer explored the idea that many people have multiple places they call home, several lives and even different versions of themselves in a talk entitled "Global Souls: New Selves, Homes and Dreams in the New Millennium." Pico Iyer was born in Oxford, England in 1957, to parents from India, and educated at Eton, Oxford and Harvard. Since 1986 he has been writing books and since 1992 he has been based in rural Japan with his longtime sweetheart, while spending part of each year in a Benedictine hermitage in California.

Janna Levin is a professor of physics and astronomy at Barnard College of Columbia University. She is also director of sciences at Pioneer Works, a center for arts and sciences in Brooklyn. Janna has contributed to an understanding of black holes, the cosmology of extra dimensions, and gravitational waves in the shape of spacetime. Her previous books include How the Universe Got Its Spots and a novel, A Madman Dreams of Turing Machines, which won the PEN/Bingham Prize. She was recently named a Guggenheim fellow, and she is a Chancellors Fellow at Chapman University. Her new book, Black Hole Blues and Other Songs from Outer Space, will be published on March 29, 2016 by Knopf.

Gordon McAlpine is a native Californian who attended the MFA Program in Creative Writing at the University of California, Irvine. He is the author of a number of books, the most recent being the Edgar Award nominated Woman With a Blue Pencil – “a book that Kafka, Borges, and Nabokov, as well as Dashiell Hammett, would have appreciated,” according to Joyce Carol Oates. He is also the author of Hammett Unwritten; The Way of Baseball, Finding Stillness at 95 MPH; Joy in Mudville; the young adult trilogy The Misadventures of Edgar and Allan Poe, and others. He has chaired the MFA Program at Chapman University and has taught fiction writing classes at U.C.L.A. and U.C. Irvine.