Participate in the commemorative naming of the library’s study carrels during Chapman University’s 150th anniversary year. To honor the heritage that began in 1861, a gift of $1861 will give you the opportunity to honor a special person, organization or event.

Your gift will help launch the Leatherby Libraries Endowment created to support research and teaching, and you will be acknowledged as one of the endowment’s founding donors.

There are a limited number of study carrels available for naming. Take advantage of this unique opportunity to be a part of the legacy of Chapman University’s 150th Anniversary.

YOUR STUDY CARREL
The Leatherby Libraries features a wide array of seating and study spaces with the individual carrels being the most popular. Designed for the library and positioned near windows to allow natural light to illuminate the area, the solid cherry-wood carrels provide quiet, individual workspaces with data and power access.

In recognition of your gift, an inscribed plate will be mounted on your named study carrel in the Leatherby Libraries, and you will be inducted into the 1861 Club, which recognizes donors who have given during the sesquicentennial year.

You will receive a letter of acknowledgement of your tax-deductible contribution and a commemorative photo of your study carrel place.
